Riley's Book Blog

Riley's book blog is a blog for the site developer (Riley) to share his favorite recently read books as well as to view current New York Times best sellers. It features a dynamically generated list of current best sellers pulled from The New York Times' books database with titles, cover images, and links to purchase them from Amazon, as well as a static list of Riley's favorite books with titles, cover images, and amazon links.

Future features:

- Genre/category selection for best sellers page
- Authentication/Sessions to allow users to curate their own list of favorites (would require or at least be simplified by back-end support like flask)
- Amazon prices featured directly on site
- Secondary API to display a more thorough synopsis

Find figma comp file @ './Tucker_Riley_Final_Comp.fig'.